2000-2001 Primetime Lineup

Four New Series added to Fall Schedule

"Quality, Innovation, Diversity and Reach"

These are the words that describe ABC's 2000-2001 primetime schedule. ABC finished the 1999-2000 season as the #1 network. Almost 50% of all half-hours went to ABC giving the network 1st or 2nd place wins on all seven nights! The GO network has created a schedule that not only capitalizes on the stability of its returning hits, but also offers the best opportunity for continued success. A successful season lies ahead with four new series, three comedies and a drama, and a fourth night of the critically acclaimed Who Wants to be a Millionaire? In addition to its strong line up, ABC has secured a number of high-powered movies, specials, and sporting events to captivate a multi-dimensional audience. Where will viewers turn this fall to see their favorite shows? WCVB-TV, ABC's award-winning Boston affiliate, and that's our final answer!

2000-2001 Primetime Schedule

Geena Tuesdays at 9:30PM

Academy Award-winning actress Geena Davis ("The Accidental Tourist," "Stuart Little," "Thelma and Louise") stars in a new comedy that follows the life of a single career woman who was living the glamorous, fast-paced life of a successful New Yorker, until she meets the man of her dreams — a widower with two children — and is thrust into the world of instant family and instant mom. To Teddie Cochran (Ms. Davis), breakfast was a cup of specialty coffee, take-out Chinese was her idea of dinner at home and her group of friends was her family. That was until she met Max (Peter Horton, "thirtysomething"). Now Teddie's family includes an emotional six-year-old girl, an unpredictable 16-year-old boy and a hostile housekeeper. Her car is a big boat of an SUV and peanut butter sandwiches have replaced martinis. As Teddie learns that being an instant mom is not going to be as easy as she thought, and that keeping a relationship sexy with two kids around is really not as easy as she hoped, she is determined to maintain her identity in the city. Her successful career as a party planner and close relationship with her girlfriends are still important to her. As Teddie's modern juggling act begins, she'll need her distinct brand of sarcastic humor and a lot more patience than she ever thought she'd have in order to help her balance it all.

Gideon's Crossing Wednesdays at 10:00PM

Acclaimed actor Andre Braugher ("Homicide: Life on the Street," "City of Angels") stars in this provocative new series from Academy Award-nominated writer Paul Attanasio ("Quiz Show," "Homicide: Life on the Street"). Ben Gideon (Braugher) is the voice of reason, empathy and wisdom in a world of medical chaos, bureaucracy and hypocrisy. He is a doctor we should all be so lucky to have. Highly skilled, on the cutting edge of technology and experimental medicine but possessing the gentlest and most inspirational of bedside manners, he is Disease's mortal enemy. Ben Gideon, it seems, could will his patients to wellness. He is compassionate, of course, but equally relentless and demanding — of himself, of his students and of his patients. He will not give up in his quest for cures. His students love him, want to be him, but they also fear him just a little. He challenges his patients to examine their lives and to make changes if those lives don't have meaning. Ben Gideon treats the whole person, not just the illness.

People Who Fear People Fridays at 8:30PM

An outrageous new comedy crazy enough to ask the question, "Are you being paranoid if everyone really is out to get you?" Bob (David Krumholtz, "The Santa Clause," "The Ice Storm") is a regular guy just trying to live an ordinary life. But for Bob and his friend, Max (Brad Raider), this is a particular challenge because of the unique perspective they have on the world — that it's out to get them. Their friend, Claire (Paget Brewster), a pretty and down-to-earth therapist, is trying to convince them that they have nothing to fear, but this isn't easy in a world where there really ARE cameras in the traffic lights and bank machines, where your credit card company DOES know the last time you bought underwear, and your HMO knows all about that embarrassing itch. Bob's problems are exacerbated when he becomes convinced that his new next-door neighbor, Zack (Jon Cryer, "Pretty in Pink," "Superman III"), is spying on him. The catch is, Zack really is spying on Bob.

Madigan Men Fridays at 9:30PM

International film star Gabriel Byrne (“End of Days,” “The Usual Suspects”) comes to television in a new comedy from Golden Globe Award-winning writer Cindy Chupack (“Sex and the City”), which examines the lives of three generations of men making their way through the dating world. Byrne stars as Benjamin Madigan, a handsome, successful and charismatic architect in New York City. He is single, adorable and available and should be making out like a bandit with the ladies. But Benjamin is recently divorced, and after 20 years of being a dutiful husband and provider, he just hasn’t got a clue about dating. He is a member of a rare breed of men — the sexy man completely oblivious to his own sexiness. While his co-workers shove him into the dating world, he is full of the most rudimentary questions, like how soon to call a woman after she gives you her number. For the answers to these and many other questions, Ben can turn to his 16-year-old son, Luke (John Hensley), for whom juggling a series of girlfriends couldn’t come more naturally. In addition, Ben’s recently widowed father, Seamus (Roy Dotrice, TV’s “Beauty and the Beast”), just moved in. Seamus is ornery and speaks his mind, and with Luke’s help, they might just be able to teach Benjamin a thing or two about dating and women in the 21st century.

Where You'll Find Your Favorite Shows!

The Joan Cusack Show

Actress Joan Cusack ("In & Out," "Working Girl") stars in a new romantic comedy about a single woman who has been looking for love, found it -- but doesn't know what to do with it. Cusack plays Gwen, a commitment-phobe who thinks, on the one hand, that nobody will ever love her and, on the other hand, that no one is good enough for her. So when her boyfriend proposes, it is the single most anticipated moment of her life -- and her worst fear come true.

The Mole

The Mole is a reality series that follows ten demographically diverse contestants who work together as a team to accomplish a series of outrageous tasks; the more tasks they accomplish, the more money one of them will win. The one-hour show has a unique twist that will separate it from other game and reality shows already on the air by adding the distinct component of "The Mole," a player whose predetermined purpose is to sabotage the teams' efforts to collect all the money. At the end of every one-hour episode the group is given a quiz to see who is The Mole. The player who knows the least amount of information about The Mole is immediately sent home . . . empty-handed. In the dramatic final episode, The Mole is revealed, and the one remaining player wins all the money.

Leary

A new comedy series featuring actor-comedian Denis Leary as Mike McNeil, a New York City cop whose toughest assignment is himself. He's a crass cynical chain smoker struggling to balance a challenging personal life with a job that leaves him wondering on a daily basis if he is the last sane person in New York. His unconventional approach to his job makes him a great cop even on the most trying of days. The only thing he can't figure out is why, if he's the only sane guy around, everyone's always looking at him like he's crazy.

The Runner

ABC has another reality series, The Runner, a program that will follow a single contestant as he or she crosses the country while trying to avoid being identified by viewers. Actors and Oscar-winning screenwriters Matt Damon and Ben Affleck will be the executive producers. Thirteen original episodes are slated for mid-season.

My Wife and Kids

All Michael Kyle (Damon Wayans, "In Living Color") wants to know is . . . what happened to his life? It wasn't all that long ago that he had life all figured out. He had married his high school sweetheart, had three beautiful kids, and while she stayed at home with the children, he went out and made a living. But somewhere along the line, things spun out of control. His stay-at-home bride became a stock market trailblazer. His only son idolizes gangster rap stars instead of him. His moody, adolescent daughter's two favorite hobbies are asking him for money and giving him grief; and his youngest daughter is growing up speaking Spanish as her first language, which is being taught to her by the family maid who loves the kids, but can't stand Michael. Michael is on a tragically funny quest for a "traditional" family. He's a not-so-modern man living in a very modern world. Perhaps after all of the chaos is over, he will realize that his dream of having a normal American family came true a long time ago.

The People Versus

Executive Producer Michael Davies (Who Wants To Be A Millionaire) produces this new U.S. version of the British game show. The British version of Versus has contestants answering contestants' questions on a personal area of expertise put to them by individual viewers. If the contestant answers correctly, he or she wins a cash prize; if the contestant answers incorrectly, the viewer gets to take his or her place on the next show.

Returning Series

With the addition of only four new series, ABC's fall line-up offers many returning favorites. The veteran programs will continue to provide engaging new characters and interesting stories keeping viewers on the edge of their seats and tuned to ABC for their favorite shows.

The highly-acclaimed Boston based drama, The Practice, retains its 10PM Sunday night slot. Winning the Best Drama Emmy Award for the second year-in-a-row proves that this enthralling court room series has not lost its touch. The show's outstanding cast continues to woo viewers raising questions about what will happen next. You only need to watch once, and you'll be found guilty of being a fan!

Other returning drama series include the first rate ensemble drama Once & Again about two single parents and their blossoming romance. Viewers immediately embraced this terrific series now entering its second season. Also, fans can hardly wait to get back into the 15th precinct for the eighth season of NYPD Blue, which will premiere following the conclusion of ABC's Monday Night Football. ABC's Monday Night Football returns with two new hosts in the booth, comedian Dennis Miller and ex-NFL quarterback Dan Fouts, joining commentator Al Michaels.

The popular comedy series The Drew Carey Show, Spin City, Two Guys and a Girl, and Norm all return in new time periods. The hilarious Whose Line is it Anyway? will keep viewers laughing with its back to back episodes on Thursday nights, and Dharma & Greg will continue to captivate audiences on Tuesdays.

The show that caused a phenomenon and revived the game show genre -- Who Wants to be a Millionaire? is back with more questions for another season with an additional episode airing on Wednesday from 8-9PM. Eclectic fans just can't get enough of the mild-mannered "Reege" and his witty remarks. ABC will be the place to be in 2000, and you won't want to miss out.

ABC Daytime Monday-Fridays 12:30-4PM

ABC's daytime is still rated number one for the 23rd straight year!! Faithful viewers continue to tune to their favorite dramas to check out the latest stories and plot twists. ABC daytime shows earned several Emmy Award nominations and took home a few golden trophies as well. General Hospital made Emmy history as the only daytime drama to ever win Best Drama Series a record seven times!
